First appearance at Bauma: Putzmeister presents the brand new EstrichBoy DC 450

More efficiency, more comfort – the new one is here!

At Bauma 2019, from 8 – 14 April, EstrichBoy, the popular Brinkmann brand compressed-air conveyor can be experienced in a new guise and with some interesting new features. Operators and companies alike will be thrilled. They can promise more efficiency, service, safety and even more comfortable operation.

1968 was the year in which the first marketable EstrichBoy left the factory. The configuration options, diverse from the outset, and simple operation were well received on the market. Today, after more than 50 years, the robust compressed-air conveyor has enjoyed uninterrupted success, as confirmed by the latest survey conducted by the "Fußbodentechnik" magazine. "We are delighted and proud that yet again, an independent body has confirmed that our Brinkmann brand EstrichBoy is the number one choice for screed layers. Every day, we work in close partnership with the users to make their hard work with our machines easier and to further shape the screed sector", emphasises Jochen Knecht, Managing Director of Putzmeister Mörtelmaschinen GmbH.

At Bauma 2019, the market leader in the screed conveyor sector will present its latest generation of the EstrichBoy to visitors at the world's largest construction trade fair.

The compact machine for mixing and conveying screed comes in a new design and with tried and tested new features, without losing sight of the strong roots in the long history of the EstrichBoy. The machine is highly robust and peppered with user-friendly details. "In daily use, it's the small details that make the most difference. These details have an impact in use and also during the regular maintenance routine", adds Jochen Knecht.

The construction machine manufacturer from Aichtal is still keeping some details under wraps. All we know so far is that the development work focussed on operation, efficiency, service and safety. Pictures already published on social media and in trade magazines hint that the machine will have a more robust and modern design.

Just what the new EstrichBoy DC 450 entails and has under its bonnet won't be revealed until Bauma 2019. So for all customers, EstrichBoy fans and prospects from the screed sector, a visit to the Putzmeister stand to join in the launch celebrations of this new generation will be well worth it.

The mobile screed factory TransMix and the Brinkmann EstrichBoy 32 ampere compressed-air conveyor EC 350 will also be on show on the Putzmeister stand, Munich Trade Fair Centre, Hall B6, Stand 100 or before at <http://www.bauma.putzmeister-informs-u.de/>.
